FIRE AT MARY BELLE

A fire which caused much excitement and a severe loss to the Kentucky Flour Sugar company, occurred at the Mary Belle Mine last Friday night about seven o'clock. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The men were in the ground at work at the time the fire was discovered but were taken out in time to avoid any danger. The fire was first discovered by the hoistman, as the flames burst out the door of the mill room. The alarm was then given and the men who had been at work underground, together with the top hands worked hard to check it. A hose was connected to the discharge line and as there was plenty of water it was applied successfully but too late to save the mill and shop which were burned to the ground. The derrick was saved by the superintendent and an employee who climbed to the top and pushed the tail-dumper's shack off over the side as it was well under headway. The derrick was damaged slightly.

Statement of the City Coal & Transfer Company

There was released to the City Coal & Transfer Company by our railroad agent, during the late coal strike, a car of "mine-run" coal which was from the Fentress Coal Co., of Tennessee. When the coal was released we had no bill of rates or cost, either of the coal or the freight. Our Agent advised that we base our selling price on war time prices for "mine-run" coal F. O. B., which was $2.35 per ton, and the freight at double the rate to Hopkinsville, which was $1.50 per ton and war tax; and, by this estimate the freight was $3.00 plus the war tax, 9 cents, making $3.09 freight and war tax; but when the bill did come, and which we had to pay, it was $3.91 freight, including war tax.

We gave to the Railroad Agent, at his request, a certified check for the coal, for $110.04, which came in and was charged up to our banking account at Farmers Bank.

We have this check in our possession, with the various endorsements, and which shows it was given for this very same identical car of "mine run" coal. Nevertheless, the Fentress Coal Co., sends us another bill for this same car of coal, charging us $2.53 F. O. B., amounting to $119.54 more for the very same coal. But the Agent says we are sure to get back the amount of the check for $110.04, which we gave to the railroad company. But, at the present we are out for above coal, first check for coal to the railroad $110.04, and second check for same coal to the Fentress Coal Co., $119.54, and check for freight on this coal was $184.93, making the present amount out by us for this car of coal amount to a total of $414.51. We have only realized $295.00. We are, therefore, short $119.51 on above car as it now stands.

We have filed claim for overcharges, and if we ever get anything to make refunds to our patrons, we will certainly do so.

THE CITY COAL & TRANSFER COMPANY

MEMORIES OF EARLY DAYS

Mr. Editor: Seeing Mrs. Frisbie's memories of early days brings back to my mind some fond memories of my early days.

I was born in Pinckneyville, Ky., the 10th of February, 1844. My father, Blake Travis was a river man. He died when I was six months old and left my mother with four little children to raise, the oldest being but eight years old.

I remember the first school I went to. It was close to the little village of Levas. It was a log house and was taught by a man named King. The old Union church was a large log house and both stood where the grave yard now is.

The first dead person I ever saw was buried there, a young lady by the name of Samantha Fritts. I have never forgotten how that dead face looked. I can see it as plain today as I did then.

The first physician I ever saw was Dr. Jordan Bass. He lived in old Salem and was drowned in the Cumberland river.

The first minister of the gospel I remember seeing was Uncle Collin Hodge. The first lawyer I ever saw was Uncle John Blue, father of Johnnie Blue that lives in Marion now.

The first political speech I ever heard was made by David Woods at the place where New Salem church now stands.

There are only two houses on the road from Salem to Marion that was there when I was a child, the Alvis house and the one where I live, then owned by old Dr. Miles. George Miles lived there where Jim LaDue lives now. Old Man Pressly Gray lived about half a mile below this place. The old Gray house burned down some ten or fifteen years ago.

I think George Gray of Marion was born in the house where I live now and I believe Judge Roebster was born about two miles from here on the Princeton road but the old house is gone now.

There is a graveyard on the hill back of my house where several of the Grays are buried one of whom is Miss Barbara.

The first couple I ever saw married was Elias Burklow and Marietta Watson. I remember when Miss Kittle Colman was married. We were all invited and what a nice basket of good things Aunt Narcissa sent my mother. You hardly ever saw cake those days except at weddings.

I remember when this part of the country was almost a wilderness, just a few houses scattered around. The Alvis place, Grays, Miles, Threlkeld, Rochester, Uncle Henry Coleman's and the Clements place on the road. The Wash Brown place, Asa Hodge, Butler and Henry Watson places were all the farms close around and now most all is cleared and under fence.

I remember when wild turkey and deer were plentiful. There were wolves, wild cats and panthers. My grandfather killed a large panther in old Clifty Hollow.

Well I will tell you how the men and women worked in my day. In the winter and fall they cleared the land of all large timber and when spring came they had the log rollings. They would invite all the neighbors, put the logs in big heaps and burn them. There was no demand for lumber then. The women would all come and there would be a quilting the same day and what a time we would have. The dinner would consist of hog jowl, turnip greens, boiled ham, chicken, dried peach and apple pie, New Orleans molasses, milk and butter, plenty of eggs and sometimes turkey and deer. Every one was friendly, sociable and full of fun.

They worked oxen those days instead of horses and after the logs were burned old "Buck" and "Bright" were hitched up and what a snapping and breaking there would be with those hickory and white oak roots.

In the fall would come the fodder pulling and corn gathering. The farmers would pile their corn in a big pile, close to the crib, invite all the neighbors and have a corn shuckling. There would be a jug at the bottom of that corn pile and they never stopped until they found the jug. I can remember hearing the darkies coming down the hill from Uncle Henry Clements singing "We Are Rounding up the Corn Pile Julia."

Corn was 25c a bushel and a man would work all day for the same sum. Whiskey sold for 25c a gallon and most every one kept it in the house, but you seldom saw a drunk man. The neighbors would all visit then and have a good time. They did not gossip and talk about each other then. Now the telephone has taken the place of visiting. We had no telephones in those days, nor automobiles and very few buggies.

The farmer had very few implements to work with, a plow and hoe and wooden harrow was about all they had. They had no mowers, binders and cultivators in those days. They checked their ground off, dropped the corn by hand and covered it with a hoe. What wonderful inventions have been made during the past 75 years! Now we have our railroads, telephones, telegraph, electricity and at last we have the airplanes. What will be invented next?

Every one worked in my early days. The women folks made all their clothes, they raised their own cotton, they carded, spun and wove it into bed sheets, table cloths and dresses. They raised their own sheep, the wool was sheared, carded, spun and woven into blankets and jeans to make men's and children's clothing. Did any of our young people ever see flax growing? It is beautiful after it gets so old. They pull and lay down to dry, then they have what they call a flax break. They take the flax and beat on the flax break until they have the outside bark off, there was a single board which they used to get the bark all out. Then comes the hackle. It was a plank full of sharpened nails through which the flax was pulled until all the tow was out. They made tow cloth out of this and linen out of the flax. How many living today ever saw a "flax wheel"?

I remember the first clock I ever saw. It was here at this place when Dr. Miles lived here. It stood on the floor and reached to the ceiling. There were no coffee mills then. They had an iron jar we put the coffee in and beat it with a piece of iron. There were no sausage mills. The men would split open a large log, take out one half and hollow it out, put the meat in there and beat it with a hammer, taking three or four days for this work.

When I was a little child I did not know there was such a thing as "Santa Claus." Lots of little children did not know what a toy was. If they got a new pair of shoes for Xmas that was all and they were made at home. Now young people you can see how we old people were raised.

Well I have lived to see my 75th Christmas. I will close, wishing every one a happy and prosperous 1920.

GOOD ROADS BILL IS DRAFTED

The various good roads organizations in Kentucky sent representatives to a meeting in Louisville a few days ago where a Good Roads bill was drafted and a committee named to carry it before the legislature which convened early this month.

Project No. 9 leads from Paducah to Smithland, Marion, Morganfield, Henderson, Owensboro, Hawesville, Hardinsburg, Brandenburg, Tip Top, West Point, and on to Louisville, known as the Ohio River route.

Project No. 11 leads from Paducah to Smithland by way of Calhoun, Greenville, Nortonville, Dawson Springs, Princeton and Eddyville. This route is known as the Central Highway.

About one half of the Ohio River route has been surveyed and the work is going on, having begun near Louisville and driving west, now in Daviess county. Two counties, Caldwell and Lyon, have not guaranteed the required amount of funds, but Caldwell has voted a road bond issue to meet its share and Lyon has almost enough private subscriptions to put her over, and the Central Highway is practically assured. Livingston and Hopkins have pledged their quota of the funds to construct the Central Highway from Dawson Springs to Smithland, where that Highway strikes the Ohio River route.

To the Citizens of Marion

I have now been in the Insurance Business here for two years; realizing the fact, when I came here, that you would not feel disposed to place your insurance with me, until you were satisfied that I was permanently settled in business. I have not tried to thrust myself upon you, nor have I bothered you with numerous and persistent solicitations for your business; however, I have been favored with a reasonable amount of business from some of the leading citizens of the town and I appreciate it very much.

I am now permanently located, devoting all of my time to the Insurance Business, and prepared to take care of your insurance needs of every kind. Give me a trial.

ALLIES MAKE FIUME INDEPENDENT STATE

CUSTOMS UNION WITH JUGOSLAVIA NATION IS ONE OF THE PROVISIONS.

CONCESSIONS ARE MADE

Italian Character of City is Recognized—Italy is Granted Full Sovereignty Over Islands Near the Dalmatian Coast.

Paris.—Great Britain, France and the United States, conceding the Italian character of Fiume, will grant that city complete sovereignty under the league of nations, preserving only a customs union with Yugoslavia, according to a memorandum concerning Dalmatia and Fiume recently presented by these powers to Vittorio Scialoja, the Italian foreign minister. A summary of the memorandum telegraphed by its Rome correspondent, is published by La Nation.

In the memorandum the United States, France and Great Britain recognize as reasonable the demands of Italy with respect to the islands of Pelagos, Lissa and Losini, off the Dalmatian coast, granting full sovereignty to Italy. The three powers concede to Italy a mandate over Albania and complete sovereignty over Avionia with the hinterland necessary to its defense.

The memorandum observes that these concessions appear to safeguard sufficiently the rights and aspirations of Italy. Nevertheless, guided by a spirit of friendship, the powers will take into consideration other demands of Italy, especially the diplomatic representation of Zara, with respect to which a decision will be left to the population of that city.

Upon the Italian proposition to separate Fiume and constitute it and the hinterland as a buffer state completely independent, leaving the port and railroad to that state, the memorandum says that the existence of Fiume and of the buffer state appear to eliminate each other reciprocally because any form of separation would be to the prejudice of the city as well as of the hinterland. In order to safeguard the Italian character and autonomy of Fiume the powers presenting the memorandum are disposed to maintain the city under protection of the league of nations, and as Italy is part of the league, the memorandum says, it should be easy to safeguard Italian interests.

The Italian demand for a corridor which would establish territorial continuity between Fiume and Italy is held to be superfluous and tending to create grave economic and territorial complications.

EARTHQUAKE CAUSE OF MANY DEATHS

THREE MEXICAN CITIES ARE DESTROYED AND OTHERS BADLY DAMAGED.

1,000 DEAD IN SINGLE CITY

An Entire Garrison Either Killed or Injured—Heartless Outlaws Add Terror to Terrible Situation By Looting.

Mexico City.—Coahuila was destroyed by Saturday's earthquake, with 2,000 casualties, including more than 1,000 dead, according to official reports given out here by presidential military headquarters, from advices received from officers in the Vera Cruz center of disturbance.

The entire garrison at Teocelo was killed or injured. The dead numbered 30 and the injured 60. Virtually all the roads in the surrounding district were flooded or destroyed, according to reports.

Three hundred dead are reported at Barranca Grande, near Coahuila. The water level at Port Barranca del Agua rose 25 metres. A detachment of soldiers has been sent from Huasteca to bury the victims.

Another incident of tragic interest is the story that comes from San Juan Cosmatepec, where it is said outlaws raided the ruins of the town, driving the survivors of the earthquake into the fields and jungles. Cosmatepec, a village of 2,500 residents, was left with only two buildings intact. An uncounted number of victims is still beneath the ruins.

The three towns were apparently close to the exact center of the earthquake area which extended about 50 miles on the eastern slope of the volcano of Orizaba. Death came not only from crumbling houses and churches, but from floods in hitherto peaceful streams which were swollen by black sulphurous waters, which swept wrecked settlements along their banks, drowning the injured and carrying scores of bodies down stream inextricably mixed with uprooted trees, dead cattle and other debris. From a point on the Mexican Railway, known as Puente Nacional bodies of men, women and children have been seen floating downstream, with no chance of being recovered or identified, or even counted.

At San Francisco 25 bodies have been taken from a stream and a call for fresh water has been sent to Vera Cruz. Rinconada also reports the recovery of about a score of bodies, while residents of San Francisco de Pomas are busy taking victims from a stream which passes through the village. Here also there is fear of pestilence.

In addition to deaths in the main earthquake area, 14 were killed by falling buildings at Huasteca, Teocelo, which apparently has been leveled, reports many casualties, but no figures have been sent as yet. It is believed certain there will be many casualties at Salmaral, Chicholacatl, Jalcomulco, Neco, Tlaxiotepec and Tehuacan, which were partially or entirely destroyed.

PROHIBITION LAW HELD TO BE VALID

SUPREME COURT SAYS CONGRESS HAS RIGHT TO DECLARE SALE OF ALCOHOL UNLAWFUL.

OPINION IS NOT UNANIMOUS

Four Judges Dissent From Majority Opinion as Prepared By Associate Justice Brandeis—Faint Hope Left For "Wets."

Washington.—By a majority of one vote the supreme court upheld the right of congress to define intoxicating liquors, insofar as applied to war-time prohibition.

In a four to five opinion, rendered by Associate Justice Brandeis, the court sustained the constitutionality of provisions in the Volstead act prohibiting the manufacture and sale of beverages containing one-half of one per cent or more of alcohol. Associate Justices Day, Van Devanter, McReynolds and Clark dissented.

Validity of the federal prohibition constitutional amendment and portions of the Volstead act affecting its enforcement was not involved in the proceedings, but the opinion was regarded as so sweeping as to leave little hope among "wet" adherents. Wayne H. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League of America, hailed it as a "sweeping victory" and in a statement he said the only prohibition question left open by the court now is whether the 18th amendment is of a nature that can be considered as a federal amendment and whether it was properly adopted.

In rendering the opinion the court sustained federal court decrees dissolving injunction proceedings to enjoin federal authorities from preventing Jacob Huppert, a New York brewer, from manufacturing beer containing in excess of one-half of one per cent, but which he alleged was non-intoxicating.

The "wets," however, received a brief ray of hope when shortly afterwards, Associate Justice Day in an unanimous opinion, sustained the dismissal of indictments brought under the war-time prohibition act against the Standard Brewery of Baltimore, and the American Brewing Company of New Orleans, for manufacturing 2.75 beer before the Volstead act was passed. In sustaining this action, the court held that congress has the right to determine what is intoxicating beverages, but in view of the fact the Volstead act had not yet been passed, manufacture of low alcoholic beer was permissible under the war time prohibition act providing it was not intoxicating.

Following the rendering of the opinion, Assistant Attorney General Pierson, who has been in charge of the prohibition cases in the country, announced that the department of justice was ready to begin prosecution of all persons who have sold beer since the passage last October 28 of the Volstead act. The names of all persons violating the act have been obtained by the department and card indexed and prosecutions, he said, would begin at once.

Date of French Election. Paris.—Jan. 17 was fixed as the date for the election of a president of the French republic by the French cabinet.

Rule on Sugar Sales. Washington.—The federal trade commission held that the selling of sugar in combination with other goods to force purchasers to buy other things in order to obtain sugar was an unfair method of competition.

Would Stop Paper Exports. Washington.—Exportation of news print paper would be prohibited for one year under a bill introduced by Representative Ferris, democrat, Oklahoma.

SOUGHT CONTROL OF LABOR UNIONS

COMMUNISTS PLANNED TO "BORE FROM WITHIN" AGAINST GOVERNMENT.

NEARLY 4,500 IN CUSTODY

Manifesto Issued Urges Repudiation of A. F. of L. and Seeks to "Revolutionize the Trades Unions" as Now Conducted.

Washington.—Plans of the communist and communist labor parties, against whom the great raids by government agents are directed, to gain control of all labor organizations as the means of fomenting revolution were revealed in documents made public by the department of justice. Assistant Attorney General Garvan made public the documents, which were seized in several cities, with the desire, he said, that the American people might learn the real purposes of these menacing groups and the nature of the poison they were spreading.

The party rolls were said to carry the names of many persons well known in their respective communities and American citizens. Although there is no federal law under which the American communist can be dealt with by department agents were not overlooking these. Their cases will be turned over to state governments.

Two hundred and eighty persons arrested in Detroit were added to the list of those taken into custody, which is fast approaching 4,500.

Among those arrested in Portland was Victor Sauli, who attracted attention by his activities as a delegate to the August convention of the communist labor party in Chicago. In Spokane, federal agents took into custody Peter Federchuk, who officiated as a priest, had been one of the most dangerous agitators with whom they had to deal in the northwest.

In their plan to "bore from within" the labor unions, as disclosed in the "manifesto and programme," the leaders of the communist and communist labor parties outlined for their adherents the programme for inciting simultaneously small strikes and developments of small strikes into mass action. The plan of action was given in detail from "small strikes to minor mass strikes; from minor mass strikes to general strikes; and from general strikes to the dictatorship of the proletariat through revolution."

Deploping the trend of unionism, the manifesto says: "The older unionism was based on the craft divisions of small industry. The unions consisted primarily of skilled workers, whose skill in itself is a form of property. The unions are not organs of the militant class struggle now. Today, the dominant tendency is actually a bulwark of capitalism, merging in imperialism and accepting state capitalism."

The "manifesto" admonishes the parties followers that they must actively engage in the "struggle to revolutionize the trade unions." It adds that as against the unionism of the American Federation of Labor there is need for emphasis of revolutionary implications and that: "We recognize that the American Federation of Labor is reactionary and the bulwark of capitalism."

THRIFT WEEK

"Thrift Week" which the government asks to have celebrated next week should not be flippantly passed by as ordinary advertising propaganda.

The people of this country are living too fast. Great numbers have gone on a financial spree.

The editor of the Portland, Ore., Journal gave an illustration the other day. "With a big increase in the population of our city," he said "we built but 266 houses, while we bought 6,300 automobiles." People are putting money into temporary enjoyments, instead of permanent resources.

Many working girls wear silk stockings to the shops where they do the roughest kind of work. Some families where conditions of poverty used to prevail will buy several phonographs so that several of the children can operate them at one time. People who but a few years ago were living in fear of the sheriff now have fur coats costing fabulous sums.

This kind of joy riding can not last. People of any sense will lay an anchor to windward. A bank deposit not merely provides assurance against future emergency but it brings in a permanent income every year.

Extravagance increases the cost of living. It gives producers the idea that the public will pay any old price and thus encourages profiteering. It diverts producing facilities from necessities to luxuries. It creates scarcities of everything, which tends to make high prices.

A great addition to the savings and capital of the nation is necessary if the United States is to take advantage of its opportunities. When you buy a Thrift Stamp, or put a dollar in the bank, you help place your own personal fortunes and the prosperity of the country on a more secure basis. So let every one take hold and boost Thrift Week.

CO-OPERATION.

The writer has heard lots of farmers and other business men say that farming is the most independent life one can live. However Mr. Farmer has found to his sorrow that "no man liveth unto himself." Everywhere the tillers of the soil are organizing for protection and efficiency. It is nothing to get scared at when we see where the dairymen or the tobacco men have come to some kind of terms that will mean good to their line. In fact have you not noticed that when a number of men want to do something big they get together? The school teachers have their associations, the doctors meet for the exchange of ideas and protection, and even the ministers are feeling that they can be brethren though they may not be of the same creed. The spirit of the age is the get-together spirit.

Should not one business man or professional man recognize some kind of ethical code to guide him in his attitude toward his competitor? We believe that the spirit of this time will bring all men to consider that the other man has a right to some consideration.

There are lots of people who should have an insurance policy going to get it some how. There are hundreds of sick people that some doctor is going to get a chance at and—well there are a few sinners left for the ministers to work on. Can't we do this so that we will not cause hard feelings? Let's all get together, what do you say?

Farmers who are considering the possibility of co-operative marketing associations will do well to study the methods and results of associations that have been successfully conducted. Many such organizations have proven failures because their methods were not right.

One of the best examples is the California Fruit Growers Exchange which has had 25 years' successful experience. When the association started in the retailers' margin for handling these highly perishable fruits was figured at 39% of the consumer's dollar. The ordinary margin for retailing such fruits is still estimated at 30 to 60%. But this association gets by with allowing the retailer only 29% for service, expenses, profits and spoilage of product.

It accomplishes this result by eliminating speculation, and delivering goods direct to wholesale trade in the market where the stuff is consumed.

The exchange believes that when an association needs capital, it should be obtained not by stock subscription but by assessing the stockholders an amount proportional with their shipments. This provides a strictly democratic form of organization.

The most vital policy is to have the product graded, handled and packed under standard regulations and sold under an association trade mark, each locality retaining its own local brand if desired. This enables the product to build up a reputation as a standard and meritorious article. It is only by maintaining standard quality that a reputation can be attained and a good deal of advertising is necessary so that the public shall know the product. The splendid success of this exchange should be an inspiration to farmers who believe that the cost of marketing their products could be reduced.

TWO SPOTS

People who ten years ago were cursing the automobiles that scared the horses, are now finding fault because there are not more regular lines of motor trucks to handle farm products.

City young people sit in theatres and ball parks and watch other people do things. Country young folks don't see so many fine entertainments. But they learn to do things themselves and thus acquire initiative.

Some people claim the country town stores don't keep the latest fashions. Anyway they don't soak the people 50 per cent advance to pay for silly fashion changes every three months.

The Reds weep bitterly at the idea of being deported to a country where their principles are put into practice.

Motto of the politicians: Never spend a cent when a dollar will do as well.

The installment Plan Fur Coat girls get lots of invitations out to ice cream but the Make Your Own Clothes girls get the invitation to accept an engagement ring.

There has been so far no public demand that the government take pains to pick out an exceptionally seaworthy vessel to ship the Reds home in.

It is claimed that the railroads have degenerated but any way there are two streaks of rust left in most places.

The boys are perfectly willing the girls should exercise the privilege of leap year, by inviting them to the ice cream parlors and the picture show and paying the bills.

USED EARTH AS RESERVOIR

Resourcefulness Displayed by American Engineer Enabled Him to Complete Big Job Successfully.

A fine example of the resourcefulness of the modern engineer is the use of the earth itself as the storage reservoir for a large supply of compressed air. In the account given to the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, N. Knapp states that he required a compressed air supply for working pumps raising oil and for blowing out the oil directly. Connecting an exhausted oil well to the compressors, he had for seven years successfully used the porous sand at the bottom as the reservoir. Two compressors, run 24 hours daily by a 200 horsepower gas engine, stored the air, and the volume of the stored supply was large enough that the pressure was not materially affected by withdrawing for short periods many times the capacity of the compressors, or by compression when no air was being used. The original pressure of the gas-charged sand was 305 pounds, giving a flow of gas from the open well of about 2,000,000 cubic feet in 24 hours. Before the well was abandoned as exhausted, the gas had been used down to a rock pressure of 115 pounds, the production was small, and the gas was wet and unsatisfactory. In a few months the compressors developed an air pressure of 290 pounds, the water trouble disappearing. The layer of porous gas sand is at a depth of 800 feet, underlying oil sand, and it appears to be not more than 7 feet thick, or to extend over more than 20 or 35 acres.

POISON TAKEN FROM VACCINES.

A new method of preparing vaccines is described in the Lancet by Capt. David Thomson and Capt. David Lees, which, the writers think, may result in the complete mastery of infectious diseases.

The discovery that has been made is that a vaccine can be detoxicated. "With the discovery of the 'detoxicator' (removal of the poison)," says Doctor Thomson, "I have been able to inject without toxic symptoms doses greater than was ever dared before, with the result that a much greater amount of immunity is developed."

Doctor Thomson believes that a few doses of a compound detoxicated vaccine given in October and again in January will afford considerable protection from influenza.—London Mail.

AN INDIFFERENCE.

"You don't appear to take much interest in this investigation."

"No," answered the ultimate consumer; "I'm busy hustling to meet bills. I can't stop to referee disputes as to whether the situation is due to higher cost of production or lower purchasing power of a dollar. It hits me either way."

His Mamma—It was a blessing to the poor, Jimmie.

Jimmie—A blessing! Why, poor kids like to skate just as much as anybody.

Stomach Trouble

Indigestion Nervous Sleepless

About Frankfort, Ky.—For many years I suffered with stomach trouble and could not digest, it would sour on my stomach and gas would form and cause me to be depressed and cramped until I would almost lose sleep with pain. I was very nervous, could not rest or sleep and was hearing a physical wreck when I decided to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It soon removed me of my stomach trouble and built me up in health and strength. Golden Medical Discovery did wonders for me and I am glad to give it a testimonial. MISS MARIA E. O'NEAL, 632 Kentucky Ave.

There is but one way to have good health, and that is to get and keep your stomach in good order. Take a course of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a wonderful stomachic, purgative, and is so easy to take for a moment's pause and relief. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery should stand standard in the home, and it is good to know that so distinguished a physician is proud to have his name identified with it.

Backache and Kidneys

Backache of any kind is often caused by kidney disorder, which means that the kidneys are not working properly. Painful matter and acid accumulate within the body in great abundance, overworking the sick kidneys, hence the congestion of blood causes backache in the same manner as a similar congestion in the head causes headache.

You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish, irritable, have apish appearance, before the eyes, lugs under the lids, and lack inclination to do things.

The latest and most effective means of overcoming this trouble, is to eat sparingly of meat, drink plenty of water between meals and take a single Anurio tablet before each meal for a week.

Simply ask your druggist for Anurio (anti-acid) if you aren't feeling up to the standard. If you have headache, rheumatism, drowsy, begin immediately this treatment with Anurio.

Send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package.

At Kansas, Tenn.—"Dr. Pierce's Anurio is the best medicine for kidneys and backache that I have ever taken. For some time my kidneys have been giving me a lot of trouble. I suffered with backache and rheumatism against my joints and limbs causing me a lot of misery. On learning of the Anurio Tablets I began their use and they have given me real relief when other kidney medicines had failed to help."

—MRS. E. C. WILSON, 600 N. 6th St., Memphis, Tenn.—"Ever since I had typhoid fever my kidneys and bladder have caused me a great deal of suffering and inconvenience. I have used various advertised kidney remedies but until I took Dr. Pierce's Anurio Tablets I could get only temporary relief. I can truthfully say that Anurio has given me more relief than anything I have ever taken." —MRS. EVA GATES, 923 Thomas St.

No Trivial Obstacle.

"Has this town ever boasted of any celebrities?"

"The only Chiggeville citizen who ever got his name in the big city papers was for being here for ten years yet," replied the old resident.

"Indeed! What's detaining him?"

"There's a great deal detaining him—the Lord only knows how many tons of steel, stone and mortar. That fellow's in the 'Pen.'" —Birmingham Age-Herald.

After a Long Pause.

When I was in the army I was commissary clerk for one of the big posts. One of the girls working there, too, was an especially good friend of mine and used to call me up every once in a while for a chat. This morning I answered the phone and thought I recognized her voice.

"Do you keep dates?" she said.

"Well," I answered in a hesitating tone, "I don't know." Then I waited to see what she was going to suggest, but there was a long pause. Then the voice continued, softly:

"This is Mrs. X. Y. Z., the wife of the commanding officer, and I want to know whether you have dates in stock?" —Exchange.

On Cutting Wood.

Elfridette, reading that the ex-kaiser had saved his twelve thousand log in exile, drew a lesson from this fact.

Possible Explanation.

Harry and Evelyn were neighbors and both members of our Sunday school. Evelyn was always clean and trim looking, while Harry was the despair of his mother.

One day when he had an unusual amount of mud on him his mother asked: "Harry, why is it that you are always dirty and Evelyn always right with you and yet she is always clean?"

Harry replied: "Well, I don't know, unless it's because boys were made out of dirt and girls were made out of nice clean bone!"

EX-KINGS EYE DANUBE STATES

Federation Is Formed on Paper by Plotters in Switzerland.

DETAILS ARE NOT COMPLETE

Exiled Rulers, Seeing the Hopelessness of Their Cause, Now Center All Their Plotting on One Great Scheme.

Berne, Switzerland.—From "the playground of Europe" of before the war, Switzerland has become "the plotting ground of Europe" of after the war.

And all of this plotting may now be summarized in one general end of "the constitution of a Danubian confederation."

To the credit of the Swiss it must be said they resent in the extreme the degree of abuse that is now being made of their country and their hospitality by the exiled rulers and statesmen of erstwhile empires and states, but they are as helpless in the matter as they are innocent.

Keeps Everybody Busy.

While they cannot keep their little country from being converted into an incubator, however, they can at least try to keep the plots being brewed therein from actually hatching, and the Swiss secret service, together with its gendarmes, its policemen, its detectives and its public officials generally, are putting in quite a few sleepless nights to this end.

Now that the gradual readjustment of Europe has left no doubts in the minds of certain exiled rulers, like King Constantine of Greece and some of the former rulers of German states, of the hopelessness of their cause, all of the plotting in Switzerland has come slowly to center on one great scheme, a scheme that is not only considered possible, but that is considered by many of the great minds and numbers run of tom-tomists. But, without there was something queer—even shocking. Then, you discovered what it was. These were faithful tom-tomists. Consulting platitudes—"Two cents for earth," and that like—found no place. Instead, there were such platitudes as these: "Mother—walked to death in her kitchen!" "Sister—swept out the memory of June—she scrubbed herself into eternity!" "Grandma—washed herself away!" "Sister—swept out of life with two heavy a browns."

The people who saw that cemetery—may have been shocked for the instant, but they came away with the thought that one might be better for seeing such a cemetery. For, you see, it was a miniature cemetery, three feet square, and it was part of an exhibit at the Montana state fair. Such levity with the most solemn thing that mankind knows could not be justified merely on the theory that the things said were true—those who saw it came away with the belief that it was justified by way of keeping just those things from being true. And that was the purpose of the exhibit, placed there by the agricultural extension department of the State Agricultural college of Montana. It was meant to emphasize the need for home conveniences, for lack of which many a farm woman has gone to her grave before her time.

Drive Truth Home.

There were other exhibits designed to drive home the same hard truth. One was a model showing a bleak farmhouse on a bare hill. At the bottom of the hill ran a little stream, and by the stream were barns and cattle. Struggling up the hill toward the house with two heavy palls of water was a bent old woman. And the legend was: "Convenient for the cattle—but not for mother." Then there was a farmhouse with the water supply as it should be, the woman in the yard sprinkling her flower beds with a hose. And the inscription read: "Convenient for mother—and the cattle, too." Another model showed a kitchen as it should be, and another, a kitchen as it should not be. And there was the legend: "A long-distance kitchen shortens life."

The lesson taught by the exhibit is one that the state agricultural colleges and the United States department of agriculture are trying to teach by every means at their command—greater convenience and a larger measure of comfort in the farm home.

Don't look for any escalator to do your climbing for you.

Production for Year 1919 Broke All Records.

Worth Almost Three Times as Much as Average for Five-Year Period.

Washington.—The value of crops produced in the United States this year is nearly three times greater than the average annual value during the five years preceding the outbreak of the European war, according to the report of the secretary of agriculture.

"On the basis of prices that have recently prevailed," says secretary, "the total value of all crops produced in 1919 is $15,879,000,000 compared with $14,222,000,000 for 1918; $13,472,000,000 for 1917; $10,600,000,000 for 1916; and $8,820,000,000 for the five-year average, 1914-1918. These values represent gross production and not net returns to the producer. The value of live stock on farms in 1919 was $8,200,000,000, compared with $8,200,000,000 in 1918; $7,700,000,000 in 1917; $7,200,000,000 in 1916; and $6,700,000,000 for the five-year average, 1914-1918.

This increased financial showing, it is again necessary to emphasize, does not mean that the nation is better off to that extent or that its real wealth has advanced in that proportion. Considering merely the domestic relations, the true state is indicated either in terms of real commodities, comparative statements of which are given in foregoing tables. The increased values, however, do reveal that the monetary returns to the farmers have increased proportionately with those of other groups of producers in the nation, and that their purchasing power has kept pace in the rising scale of prices."

Aged Fiddler Plays.

Fremont, N. D.—"But" Gaud, champion old-time fiddler of America, celebrated his eightieth birthday anniversary with a dance in the Mutual Aid hall in Bellevue. "But" furnished the music. Old-fashioned dances were received.

Prehistoric Tree Trunk Found in Iron Mine

St. Paul, Minn.—Discovery has just been made in the Hoffman iron mine, near Taconite, Itasca county, Minnesota, not far from the source of the Mississippi river, of a prehistoric tree trunk in an excellent state of preservation and with pine cones about it.

The tree is not petrified. The wood is as sound in the main as though it had been felled only a few years ago and the pine cones are still pliable. The wood with exposure to air has not softened or crumbled, and the find is the first of its kind on record so far as geologists of the great iron ranges can learn.

NURSE OFFERS HER OPINION OF TONIC'S MERIT

"Trutona Worked Like Magic in My Case,"
Mrs. Richey
Asserts.

Paducah, Ky., Jan. 9.—Mrs. S. A. Richey, 66 years old, of 141 South Sixth street, has been a resident of Paducah for the past twenty-seven years, twenty-one years of which have been spent as a practical nurse. These years of experience as a nurse have given to Mrs. Richey a thorough knowledge of many different medicines, a fact which will lend inestimable force to her endorsement of Trutona, the perfect tonic.

"Trutona has worked like magic in my case," is the tribute paid the perfect tonic by Mrs. Richey.

"I had kidney trouble for several years," she said. "This caused pains in my back so severe at times that I could hardly get around. My stomach was in bad condition, too. After eating I'd feel bloated and would be annoyed by a shortness of breath. Because of my weakened kidneys I would have to get up seven or eight times during the night.

"The relief I've gained from Trutona has been remarkable. I never have to get up in the night now, on account of my kidneys. The pains in my back have disappeared. And my stomach, well, it's sufficient to say that I enjoy my meals as never before. The hearty of it is that every thing I eat agrees with me. I can recommend Trutona as the medicine that gives relief and I hope others suffering as I did will try it."

Trutona is now being introduced and explained in Marion at Jas. H. Orme's drug store.

VARYING FROM THE BENCH

Supreme Court of Mississippi Takes Time to Make a Few Remarks About Grass Widows.

The opinion of the supreme court of Mississippi in a suit in which a sixty-year-old defendant was directed to pay damages for breach of promise of marriage says:

"It would, perhaps, be useless to offer suggestion or counsel to a man of the age of appellant, or to lay down any proposition that would carry caution to the mind of people of his age and class, especially when it comes from his junior in years, if not in wisdom. Yet it might be proper to remind others of his type that he who would trip the light fantastic toe with the terpsichorean maid must contribute coin to the nian who extracts mystic music from the violin strings, or, in other words, that pleasure must be paid for with the coin of the realm."

"Beware of the grass widow when her eyes beam love. She hypnotizes the reason and the soul escapes the prison bars of discretion and 'you float airily on golden clouds to rosy lands of pleasure and joy.' Temporary bliss reigns supreme in the palace of love; but in the end it creates mournful memories, heartache, remorse of conscience and a burning desire to 'cut out the past.'"

MEMORIAL TO APPLE GROWER

Ohio State Horticultural Society Honors the Originator of the Rome Beauty.

To commemorate the originator of the Rome Beauty apple the Ohio State Horticultural society held its annual summer meeting at Proctorville July 23, where a memorial was dedicated to H. N. Gillett, who was instrumental in the propagation of the variety.

The original tree was derived from a freak graft. The sprout was given by Joel Gillett to his son, who set it out in a corner of a field near Proctorville, on the bank of the Ohio river, 102 years ago, and it stood there until 1860, when it was swept away by a flood.

When the tree began to bear fruit it was found to produce apples of such excellent quality that it was named Rome Beauty—Rome from the township and Beauty from its appearance.

Rome Beauty has not only retained its position as the foremost commercial apple of southern Ohio but is now grown in every state east of the Mississippi river and in some states west of the Mississippi.

FIRST AND LAST FOR HARRY.

It was the first time I was out with Harry. We went to the movies. I walked into the theater and sat down. I waited for five minutes and the first thing I saw was the usher coming toward me, who said, "Something has happened to your friend; you had better go out and see him." I went out, and Harry stood there as red as a beet, while there were other fellows laughing. I didn't know what happened until Harry started to walk away and I tagged after him. What did the big fish do but leave all his money in his other trousers? I never went out with him again.—Chicago Tribune.

NARROW ESCAPE.

"Going to take Miss Jibway out to the ball game this afternoon?"

"No. I saved myself just in time."

"I was just about to ask her when I remarked that our star pitcher 'blew up' yesterday, and she said, 'Dear me! How perfectly dreadful! Was anybody else injured?'"

—Birmingham Age-Herald.

LOOKING AHEAD SIX MONTHS.

"Well, it isn't alone in that. Judging from the jumps they've taken, food, fuel and fares all seem to have anticipated Leap Year."

CITY DEMANDS MUCH FOOD

Whole Country Leveled On to Furnish Adequate Nourishment for the Country's Metropolis.

It is estimated that New York city and its environs now contain 10,000,000 people. Do you sense the meaning of this statement? It means that one-tenth of all the people in the United States are either housed on the tight little island of Manhattan or massed on its outskirts.

It means that one-tenth of everything the mighty United States of America produces—every tenth egg and every tenth potato and every tenth bushel of wheat—must be rushed there post haste, or overgrown Gotham will go hungry.

Up to this writing the country has never failed New York. Its breakfast table is always replete. To make this possible the midnight express from Washington, the capital of the nation, carrying the elect of our proud land, every night pulls onto the side track to let the food specials from the South and the middle West go by. Otherwise New York would not eat in the morning.

We out-of-town folks are quite familiar with cabbages and cantaloupes and cucumbers, on account of being raised with them, but we are always shocked at their astonishing rise in value when we have to buy them in New York.—Exchange.

BAKED FOR THE COMMUNITY

Public Ovens in London Were Common Within the Memory of the Middle Ages.

What memories the suggestion of communal kitchens revives. For we had to some extent its prototype in London in the baker's oven, where all and sundry could have their dinners cooked at a charge of twopenny per dish.

The practice, which obtained to a very large extent forty or fifty years ago, was made necessary owing to the fact that few working-class houses boasted of an oven or kitchen range.

And so every Sunday one could witness the interesting spectacle of thousands of fathers of families, whose prerogative it was by stringent unwritten law, attired in their best clothes and high hats, carefully conveying the weekly joint, which was, as a rule, in a pie dish, with potatoes all around it, to and from the bakehouse, mindful on the return journey of the housewife's injunction "not to spill the gravy."—London Chronicle.

RIVER WILL CLEAN ITSELF.

From this summer onward the Mississippi river will keep its own mouth clean of mud and silt and sand, so that ships can pass in and out and 100 miles up the river to New Orleans.

This has been achieved by merely narrowing the channel inside the jetties by means of timber breakwaters to 1,000 feet, with a mean depth of 35 feet, and then directing the main current of the Mississippi through this narrowed channel. Only one dredge will be required now for soundings and records, whereas three or four dredges were employed before to keep the channel clear. Now the current of the Mississippi scours its own bed.

HIS LITTLE JOKE.

"The boss says I can have only one week's vacation this year."

"You have always had two weeks."

"I know."

"Surely you won't go away for just one week."

"Yes. Half a loaf is better than none."

Not only here in Marion but in our neighboring towns, the same good story is heard. An encouraging instance from Princeton is given here and will be read by us with great interest.

Mrs. J. W. Lamb, 207 Shephard St., Princeton, Ky., says: "I was troubled with severe backaches, which I think, was brought on by standing. I suffered with nervousness and dizzy spells when black spots appeared before my eyes. When I stooped over to sit down, my back nearly killed me. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills from Doan's Directory and began their use. Two or three boxes of this medicine relieved me greatly. I am always helped by Doan's and gladly recommend them as being reliable." THREE YEARS WITHOUT HOPE

A Story of Sickness and Suffering with Final Return to Health It will do you good to read it

No matter how long nor how much you have suffered, do not give up hope. Do not decide there is no help for you. There is. Make up your mind to get well. You can. There is a remedy in which you may place full reliance as did Mrs. Rozalia Kania of 39 Silver Street, New Britain, Conn. This is what she says: "I had cramps for three years and thought I would never be any better. I could not eat without distress. Slept with my mouth open and could hardly breathe. No medicine helped me. I had catarrh of the stomach. Now I have no cramps and am feeling well and healthy. I wish every suffering person would take PE-RU-NA."

Catarrh effects the mucous membranes in any organ or part. PE-RU-NA, by regulating the digestion and aiding elimination, sends a rich, pure supply of blood and nourishment to the sick and inflamed membranes and health returns.

For coughs, croup, catarrh and catarrhal conditions generally, PE-RU-NA is recommended. If you are sick, do not wait and suffer. The sooner you begin using Dr. Hartman's well-known PE-RU-NA, the sooner you may expect to be well and strong and in full possession of your health. A bottle of PE-RU-NA is the finest emergency, ready-to-take remedy to have in the house. It is fourteen ounces of prevention and protection.

Sold everywhere in tablet or liquid form.
